Ryan,

Can we set up a call or office visit with you?

MilTech today is a significantly larger and more capable organization that when you knew us. We have been discussing...and think we may have found a way to help your department.

Ryan,

It was great talking with you today. Thank you for your time and willingness to participate in our event on 11/11.

Below is the Draft invite, which as of now is only missing a blurb about the keynote address. Hopefully everything gets approved by the ethics committee so that we can add before we send this out to prospective attendees on or before 9/11.

The general program for the evening will consist of a short welcome address by General Gersten, a welcome/thank you from Bill Foley, your keynote address (Bill or I would introduce you), a short program video from Folded Flag Foundation, and finally, the Fund-A-Need Paddle Raise and Live Auction.

I would suspect that you could leave the tent during or just after the video, which is what I've seen happen with other government and active duty military at events we've hosted.

We will have a silent auction table near the reception area, but that will be passive fundraising (there will be no verbal solicitation during the reception).

Thanks again for your consideration.

Best,
John

Ryan,

It was great talking with you today. Thank you for your time and willingness to participate in our event on 11/11.

Below is the Draft invite, which as of now is only missing a blurb about the keynote address. Hopefully everything gets approved by the ethics committee so that we can add before we send this out to prospective attendees on or before 9/11.

The general program for the evening will consist of a short welcome address by General Gersten, a welcome/thank you from Bill Foley, your keynote address (Bill or I would introduce you), a short program video from Folded Flag Foundation, and finally, the Fund-A-Need Paddle Raise and Live Auction.

I would suspect that you could leave the tent during or just after the video, which is what I've seen happen with other government and active duty military at events we've hosted.

We will have a silent auction table near the reception area, but that will be passive fundraising (there will be no verbal solicitation during the reception).

Thanks again for your consideration.

Best,
John

Checking in: is this still an event you're interested in participating in? We'll get it all squared away this week if you are.

I am so sorry for the delay. I apologize that the Secretary does have commitments this evening as well. I had planned to reach out about a potential lunch drop by today, but obviously we found out over the weekend that we would be unable to accommodate that due to events earlier!

I apologize that we're unable to make a visit work this time around; hopefully next time you're here we have a little more flexibility around White House requests!

I'll be arriving on the 14th and departing the 17th of November. Evenings the 14th, 15th, or 16th would be good, could also do early morning the 15th, 16th, or 17th. Do you know if the Secretary will be around?

Hope you're well!

Hey brother. In NYC all week for the UNGA. It's fucking nuts. Sat next to Munichin COS last night Eli Miller who sang the Zinke praises, so we had a Zinke love fest.

He is a good kid just green.

They can be flexible for the dinner. Can I have them work with your girl? What's her name again?

Let's grab dinner and drinks sometime soon. Hope the summer was good.

Scott,

I wanted to introduce you to Daniel Lippman who is a Senior Reporter at Politico and the Co-Author of the very influential Politico Playbook.

006606

He and a group of Conservative Journalists host an Off the Record dinner with leading National figures.

The recent guests of the dinners have been Peter Thiel, Tom Cotton, David Petraeus and Ben Carson.

They would like to see if Ryan would be their guest of honor at an upcoming dinner.

My two sense is that it is a friendly room and a great ability to get Ryan's message out to leading conservative journalists who are major players in DC.

Lippman is a brilliant and talented journalist who is a must read for those inside the beltway and out.

Hey brother. In NYC all week for the UNGA. It's fucking nuts. Sat next to Munichin COS last night Eli Miller who sang the Zinke praises, so we had a Zinke love fest.

He is a good kid just green.

They can be flexible for the dinner. Can I have them work with your girl? What's her name again?

Let's grab dinner and drinks sometime soon. Hope the summer was good.

Scott,

I wanted to introduce you to Daniel Lippman who is a Senior Reporter at Politico and the Co-Author of the very influential Politico Playbook.

He and a group of Conservative Journalists host an Off the Record dinner with leading National figures.

The recent guests of the dinners have been Peter Thiel, Tom Cotton, David Petraeus and Ben Carson.

They would like to see if Ryan would be their guest of honor at an upcoming dinner.

My two sense is that it is a friendly room and a great ability to get Ryan's message out to leading conservative journalists who are major players in DC.

Lippman is a brilliant and talented journalist who is a must read for those inside the beltway and out.

45-foot-tall statue of nude woman to stand on National Mall

UPI | Sept. 28, 2017 | Daniel Uria

A massive statue of a nude woman is set to stand alongside the Washington Monument later this year.

Organizers of Catharsis On The Mall event have launched a crowdfunding campaign seeking $90,000 to transport the 45-foot-tall statue, titled R-Evolution, to Washington D.C.

"R-Evolution is Deja Solis, a woman standing in her strength and power...expressing her humanity; how she feels when she is safe, when she can just be," the group said.

The National Park Service has granted permission for R-Evolution to stand on the National Mall from November to March as long as volunteers hold a constant vigil around the statue.

"For four months, she will be the focal point of a continuing vigil in support of education and awareness about the Equal Rights Amendment and will be present on the anniversary of the Women's March on January 21, 2018," Catharsis On The Mall organizers said.

READER COMMENTS:

This is disgusting. And they put this garbage out in public view, where peoples' kids could see it unimpeded. Maybe you don't want your kid to see something like that, but there it would be, unavoidable. Oh, but statues of historical figures like Lee must be removed, where they sat bothering no one for a century

So a nude woman statue is going to be next to a giant phallus?
In a way, it's fitting -- The National Tit should be in Washington, D.C.

Dear Ryan,
According to the Wall Street article you are doing an excellent job with the draining project. We are all grateful.

Regarding the Ravalli Republican Women's annual dinner on October 28. Someone on your staff, who the ladies refer to as "Secretary Zinke's scheduler" has told them you will be coming to their dinner. Please have that person notify Judy Klein (b) (6). Or (b) (6) . - not sure if that is a cell phone or land line) with a copy to me: tryan@eemail.com

Otherwise the Republican Women are going to feature your name at the top of the Program and expect you to make a speech there as well. Just saying . . .
Best regards,
Terry Ryan

Dear Ryan,

Great article in the Wall Street Journal. Congratulations. Is the rumor true that Trump is thinking of moving the Forest Service to Interior? We hope so.

I have the head table at the Ravalli Republicans Dinner on October 28. Greg Gianforte will be at my table and we have invited Greg and Susan (who we know well) to stay at our guest house and have breakfast with us the next morning. I paid double for the table (it's a fund raiser) so I could have you and your wife at my table too if you are available.

We would also like to have you and your wife stay at our four bedroom guest house and have breakfast with us and the Gianforte's the next day. You could have the entire upstairs, three bedrooms and two full bathrooms to yourself. Please let me know.

Sarah and Tim Southwell are having a symposium on the whole smoke issue at their Riverstone Estate on Sleeping Child Road on October 11 (a Wednesday) at 7:00pm. I have invited Greg Gianforte to that on the Southwell's behalf. I am inviting you too.

They run an alternate school that emphasizes sustainability. They are a couple in their forties. She is a considerable heiress. They have three school age boys. They are very conservative and philanthropic. I have known them for many years (before the first child was born and he is a teen now). They would love to have you come to that. I am going to go and again, you are welcome to stay at our guest house.

Lastly, I have a young friend named Roch Turner (PhD in Education) who runs the Workforce Training Program at the local Community College (a branch of UM). He wants to head up a collaborative study of the economic and the health impacts of the smoke on the Bitterroot Valley and Missoula. I have been in past collaborative efforts with him and he is excellent. Every one likes him. He has a great ability to get together people on all sides of an issue and best if all, he has great ability to get things done, keeping the program on point and moving forward. The Southwell's have hired him as a consultant to document their unique school's progress.

When it appeared UM would not renew his funding (they eventually came through) my husband Rob and Greg Gianforte both wanted to hire him themselves. He's that good. Can you help find Federal funding for his proposed collaborative study of the economic and health impacts of three months of smoke?

Again, congratulations on the great article.
Best regards,
Terry Ryan

We would also like to have you and your wife stay at our four bedroom guest house and have breakfast with us and the Gianforte's the next day. You could have the entire upstairs, three bedrooms and two full bathrooms to yourself. Please let me know.

Sarah and Tim Southwell are having a symposium on the whole smoke issue at their Riverstone Estate on Sleeping Child Road on October 11 (a Wednesday) at 7:00pm. I have invited Greg Gianforte to that on the Southwell's behalf. I am inviting you too.

They run an alternate school that emphasizes sustainability. They are a couple in their forties. She is a considerable heiress. They have three school age boys. They are very conservative and philanthropic. I have known them for many years (before the first child was born and he is a teen now). They would love to have you come to that. I am going to go and again, you are welcome to stay at our guest house.

Lastly, I have a young friend named Roch Turner (PhD in Education) who runs the Workforce Training Program at the local Community College (a branch of UM). He wants to head up a collaborative study of the economic and the health impacts of the smoke on the Bitterroot Valley and Missoula. I have been in past collaborative efforts with him and he is excellent. Every one I kes him. He has a great ability to get together people on all sides of an issue and best if all, he has great ability to get things done, keeping the program on point and moving forward. The Southwell's have hired him as a consultant to document their unique school's progress. When it appeared UM would not renew his funding (they eventually came through) my husband Rob and Greg Gianforte both wanted to hire him themselves. He's that good. Can you help find Federal funding for his proposed collaborative study of the economic and health impacts of three months of smoke?

Again, congratulations on the great article.
Best regards,
Terry Ryan

SEC. Zinke, this email contains the BEST of all the information is sent you this morning on what you can't do in GSENM

From my personal experience, and Greg Sheehan can validate, it takes substantially longer to complete wildlife transplants, any needed predator management, and habitat restoration inside the GSENM

This letter from Garfield County is the most direct and to the point of what you can do in the monument and what you can't do in the monument.
Kane's information is more detailed and very compelling but spread out.
Who am I meeting, when and where?
Thank you for your help on this.

Rep. Michael Noel
PO Box 301
Kanab, UT 84741

RE: GSENM Restrictions

Honorable Representative Noel:

As the County Engineer and Public Lands Coordinator for Garfield County, Utah I have prepared an abbreviated list of impacts the Grand Staircase Escalante National Monument (GSENM) places on our operations that are not consistent with BLM lands outside the monument. Page numbers refer to the Monument Management Plan. The preliminary/abbreviated list is as follows:

- 1) GSENM prohibits off road equipment (ATVs) use in search and rescue operations conducted by the Garfield County Sheriff.
- 2) GSENM prohibits information signs in high use areas which results in people getting lost and occasional deaths. The last death resulting from lack of signage occurred in June/July 2017.
- 3) GSENM prohibits restrooms in 94% of the monument (primitive-65% only signs for public safety and resource protection are allowed; outback - 29%) (See page v and pages 37 to 39).
- 4) GSENM prohibits water development on 94% of the monument.
- 5) GSENM prohibits pavement at day use areas, vault toilets, picnic areas, interpretive kiosks, and parking areas- even in the front country zone (See pages 37-38, FAC-8, FAC-12).
- 6) Group size is limited to 25 people in 31% of the monument (outback and passage zones) and 12 people in 65% of the monument (primitive zone).
- 7) No competitive events (high school cross country races, endurance races, marathons, etc.) are allowed in the monument, even in county roads (page 36, Event -3).
- 8) Collection of rocks, plants, parts of plants, fish, insects, or other items in the monument is prohibited. (Page 36, COL – 1)
- 9) Camping is more limited than in non-monument BLM lands.
- 10) Wood collection for campfires is prohibited in the front country and passage zones – areas designated for visitor use. (See page 36, Camp-6)

County Commissioners
Leland F. Pollock
Jerry A. Taylor
David B. Tebbs

Camille A. Moore, Auditor/Clerk
A. Les Barker, Recorder/Surveyor
Joseph Thompson, Assessor
Gina Peterson, Treasurer

Gary D. Owens, Justice Court Judge
Barry L. Huntington, Attorney
James D. Perkins, Sheriff

11) Water development is allowed in only 6% of the GSENM, and that only in cases of visitor safety or resource protection. Water development for visitor use is prohibited in the remaining 94% of the monument. (See page 37, FAC-7)

12) Dispersed primitive camping is prohibited in the front country and passage zone areas designated as the focal point of visitor use (Page 39, FAC – 15).

13) Toilets, water, picnic tables and other amenities are prohibited in the passage in primitive zones – 65% of the GSENM. (Page 39, FAC – 15, FAC – 21)

14) GSENM's plan attempted to close a significant number of County roads. Non-monument BLM plans attempt to identify and coordinate road use with Garfield County.

15) GSENM prohibits ATV use on County roads in at least 65% of the monument.

16) Use of bicycles in GSENM is limited only to designated routes. (page 46, TRA – 3)

17) GSENM limits maintenance to "disturbed travel areas". Non-monument BLM lands allow work in the entire disturbed area without consultation and in undisturbed areas after consultation/appropriate analysis. (See page 47, TRAN – 7).

18) GSENM prohibits placement of gravel, paving or other upgrades on County roads. (See page 47, TRAN – 7)

19) GSENM refuses to recognize use of the Boulder airport which was created approximately 40 years before GSENM designation.

20) Livestock numbers are prohibited from increasing if new water development makes more forage or land available.

21) GSENM prohibits the use of waste materials (gravel, sand, rock slides, flood debris, etc.) outside the monument and extremely limits use of such materials inside the monument.

This is only a brief list of negative impacts the County receives in the Monument. Given more time, I am confident we could come up with a much more extensive list.

I certify to the best of my knowledge that these representations are accurate, and many are supported by references to the Monument Management Plan.

If you desire additional information please contact me at (435) 676-1119.

Sincerely,

Brian B. Bremner
Garfield County Engineer/Public Lands Coordinator

Dirk--

We have already demonstrated the [conservative] economic impact of "the wave" to be about $5M minimum/year to our local community. Far more people around the world are familiar with The Wave and Buckskin Gulch than have even heard of the Grand Staircase. Of course these features are NOT on the Staircase (Vermillion Cliffs NM & Paria Wilderness).

Shirley and I were in Salt Lake City last week, and went to the new Natural History Museum. Wonderful display of all the dinosaurs found on the Grand Staircase. Economic Impact?--more for SLC than Kane County.

Have you seen the Data I put together for Camille? 35 years of UDOT tracking traffic stats shows absolutely no statistical bump when the GSENM was created; the trendlines were statistically on the same slope Before the "Proclamation" as it was after (1996). Examine the number of vehicles (people) traveling through the communities surrounded by the Grand Staircase--Kane & Garfield County/ Hwy SR89 and SR12. If the overnight creation of a huge 1.9M acre "attraction" would have been such a 'game changer', then one would expect a visible increase in the number of vehicles over and above the trend. It's not there. Of course there are no such counts on the interior roads: Skutumpah, Cottonwood, Hole in the Rock. Nick Ramsay may be able to provide anecdotal stories of how his towing business was effected by the GSENM. 😊

Traffic trends is a far better model to use than TRT/Tax, which is skewed by new hotels, restaurants, etc.

The recent episode of the "County Seat" nails it! Hal Hamblin's story of the tourists looking for the elusive Grand Staircase, when they were actually standing on it. The Garfield Commissioners story of how they had to declare an economic emergency, because their high school enrollment went from 150 students to 50 since the "Proclamation".

Good luck on this battle.

I wonder if we could validate the following statement which I feel is true and would show the extreme difference in values per acre.

The economic benefit of the few square miles of the wave to our area exceeds the impact of the one million acres or the GSENM in Kane County.

Sec. Zinke,

as you well know, some of the WORLDS best mule deer and Desert Bighorn Sheep hunting occurs in GSENM

It is much more cumbersome and expensive to do wildlife management inside he monument, but it can be achieved

our NUMBER ONE greatest threat to hunting in GSENM is that EVERY Utah National park - NO HUNTING - was a Monument

Whatever acreage is established, I would love to be on a TASK FORCE to make SURE we get the best protective language about hun ing and land and wildlife management into the Monument plans as possible

THANKS for he incredible work U and your team are doing

I fly commercial, coach mostly, but I have chartered probably 10 Private jets. Some imes you just have to get SHIT DONE fast.

KANE COUNTY RESOLUTION NO. R 2017 -1

A RESOLUTION DECLARING KANE COUNTY'S INTENT TO IDENTIFY THE MINIMUM AREA NECESSARY FOR THE GRAND STAIRCASE ESCALANTE NATIONAL MONUMENT

WHEREAS, the Grand Staircase – Escalante National Monument (GSENM) was created in 1996 by Presidential Proclamation 6920 without any input or support from Kane or Garfield Counties, their citizens, their public officials, or the State of Utah; and

WHEREAS, the GSENM was created without consideration of roads, local economies, customs, culture and heritage; and

WHEREAS, GSENM has resulted in diminished grazing rights, energy and mineral rights, public road access, state trust land properties, and resource use and preservation; and

WHEREAS, for more than 20 years the GSENM has had a negative impact on the prosperity, development, economy, custom, culture, heritage, educational opportunities, health, and well-being of local communities; and

WHEREAS, establishment of GSENM has resulted in a 44% reduction in Escalante High School enrollment (from 151 to 67) since September, 1996; and

WHEREAS, establishment of GSENM has resulted in loss of business opportunity and out-migration of families, workers and jobs; and

WHEREAS, boundary adjustments are authorized by law and are needed to protect the prosperity, health, safety and welfare of the citizens of Kane and Garfield Counties; and

WHEREAS, boundary adjustments identified by Garfield and Kane Counties are essential to the protection of health, safety, welfare, prosperity, custom, culture, and commercial opportunities for their citizenry; and

WHEREAS, boundary adjustments identified by Garfield and Kane Counties are necessary for optimizing multiple-use and sustained-yield including: 1) access to public lands, 2) commerce, 3) development, and protection of natural resources, 4) traditional recreational resource values, 5) traditional cultural and historical values, 6) agricultural livestock and forest products industries, and 7) other activities vital to the custom, culture and well-being of the area; and

WHEREAS, designation of lands as monument has reduced the ability to actively manage for land health issues such as: vegetation treatments, erosion control, water management, grazing management, wildlife management activities, and invasive plant control.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE KANE COUNTY BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS, IN AND FOR KANE COUNTY, STATE OF UTAH, AS FOLLOWS:

Kane County, along with Garfield County and the State of Utah, will consult with the United States Department of Interior Bureau of Land Management and create mapping that indicates the minimum acreage necessary to protect the antiquities and objects identified in Presidential Proclamation 6920;

Kane County urges the Utah State Legislature and the Utah federal legislative delegation to support legislative action that will reduce and modify GSENM boundaries to the minimum area necessary to protect antiquities and objects identified in Presidential Proclamation 6920.

I will be sending several emails from Brian Bremner, Garfield County Engineer and Kane County Commissioner Dirk Clayson. Kelly Stowell is our film permit guy for Kane County and he tells me he won't even apply for a film permit in the monument because it takes months and months to even consider filming on the monument. There is a great deal of vegetative manipulation going on in Kane and Garfield Counties, but nothing happening on GSENM lands. I spoke to Todd Gaziano last week. He is a lead attorney for Pacific States Legal Foundation. He and Law Professor John Yoo from Berkeley wrote the review of the Antiquities Act and strongly concluded that President Trump can significantly downsize, or eliminate a monument and no court will stop him.

I am leaving for DC in morning. I

Make sure to pack your park passport, a hat, long sleeves/long pants for Florida (all the parks say there are still a lot of mosquitos). I was thinking a direct flight to Jacksonville the morning of the 4th if you end up in PR; you could just drive up to the NWR that day (it's an hour away) and continue on with the schedule. Not sure we could tack Atlanta on to the back end of the trip given the cabinet meeting, but we could work a stop into another upcoming trip.

PROJECT Dwight D. Eisenhower Memorial Modification National Mall and Memorial Parks Bound by Independence Avenue, 4th, and 6th Streets, SW, and by the Lyndon B. Johnson – U.S. Department of Education Headquarters Building Washington, DC	NCPC FILE NUMBER 6694 NCPC MAP FILE NUMBER 1.71(73.10)44551 APPLICANT'S REQUEST Approval of revised preliminary and final site and building plans PROPOSED ACTION Approve revised preliminary and final site and building plans ACTION ITEM TYPE Staff Presentation
SUBMITTED BY United States Department of the Interior National Park Service on behalf of the Dwight D. Eisenhower Memorial Commission
REVIEW AUTHORITY Commemorative Works per 40 U.S.C. § 8905

PROJECT SUMMARY

The National Park Service (NPS), on behalf of the Dwight D. Eisenhower Memorial Commission (EMC), has submitted revised preliminary and final site and building plans for the Dwight D. Eisenhower Memorial Modification. Congress authorized the memorial under P.L. 106-79, enacted October 25, 1999, as amended. The memorial is located in Southwest Washington, DC on a four-acre site at the intersection of Maryland and Independence Avenues, between 4th and 6th Streets, immediately to the north of the Lyndon Baines Johnson (LBJ) Building U.S. Department of Education Headquarters. The Commission originally approved the final site and building plans for the Eisenhower Memorial at its July 9, 2015 meeting. As a result of further consultation with the Eisenhower family, the Commission provided comments on a revised concept design on February 2, 2017. At the time, the revised concept included three key modifications that altered the thematic context and narrative of the memorial: revising the art on the tapestry from a composite view of Abilene, Kansas to a contemporary peacetime aerial image of the beach at Normandy, France; relocating the young Eisenhower statue from the center of the memorial core to the LBJ pedestrian promenade, between the memorial and the Department of Education Building; and removing four canopy trees from the previously approved landscape plan to open up views of the revised tapestry.

On May 18, 2017 the applicant installed a three-panel tapestry mockup at the National Building Museum. The mockup was available for consulting parties and the Commission of Fine Arts review. Based on previous comments from the Commission and other stakeholders regarding the legibility and transparency of the tapestry, and after further study of the mockup, the design team concluded that a graphic approach to the Normandy landscape with higher contrast would improve the image clarity against the backdrop of the LBJ building. The applicant has revised the tapestry art from a photograph of the Normandy coastline to a more abstract drawing of the Normandy cliffs, focusing on the iconic Pointe du Hoc at the center of the composition. The design refinements also include the relocation of the statue of Eisenhower as a young man from the LBJ promenade, which is located behind the tapestry, to the memorial foreground at the entry plaza on the northwest corner of the site, near the intersection of Independence Avenue and 6th Street, SW. The sculptor has refined the pose of the life-sized young Eisenhower figure, which is now seated on a 30-inch high limestone podium looking toward the memorial. A new six-foot tall by fifteen-foot long inscription wall, similar to other limestone blocks within the memorial core, is adjacent to the statue along the south edge of the plaza. An excerpt from Eisenhower's 1945 Abilene Homecoming Speech is carved into the wall.

The landscape design retains four proposed large trees adjacent to the memorial core that had been removed from the revised concept design, and revises the species of the central tree, located in front of the memorial core from London Plane to Bur Oak to give the central grove of trees a stronger character and presence and match the adjacent tree species. Additionally, an existing street tree originally proposed to remain on 6th Street, SW will be replaced with Swamp White Oak due to poor health. This tree species is consistent with the other proposed street trees along the west edge of the memorial.

KEY INFORMATION

- On February 2, 2017, the Commission commented favorably on a revised concept design for the Eisenhower Memorial. With its comments, the Commission found that the overall placement, scale, and assembly of the primary memorial elements had not significantly changed since the 2015 final approval; and that the revised memorial design concept continued to satisfy the site selection design principles adopted by the Commission in 2006.
- In February 2017, the Commission requested additional visual studies and a mock-up of the revised tapestry on-site; a revised lighting plan; and additional Section 106 consultation. The Commission expressed concerns regarding the transparency and proportion of the tapestry image and the new location of the young Eisenhower sculpture.
- The key changes since the revised concept approval are revising the tapestry art with a more abstract drawing of the cliffs of Normandy; relocating the young Eisenhower sculpture from the LBJ promenade to the northwest entry plaza, refining the sculpture pose and configuration; adding a new inscription wall with the Abilene Homecoming Speech near the relocated sculpture; and retaining four large trees previously considered for removal.
- The subject of the new tapestry design is still the Normandy coastline, featuring Pointe du Hoc at the center of the composition. However, the image is now an interpretive line drawing rather than a photo montage. The design team has eliminated the sky, focused on the landscape in the foreground, and added some shaded accents on the vertical face of the cliffs. The revised image is now centered within the frame of the tapestry.
- Twenty percent of the tapestry panels have no linework other than the base structural grid of the panel, which provides one hundred percent transparency. The current tapestry image has an average opacity of 17 percent. The previous tapestry had an average opacity of 55 percent.

- The U.S. Commission of Fine Arts (CFA) approved the revised final design for the memorial conditioned upon further refinement of the tapestry on September 20, 2017. CFA found that the artistic design solution for the tapestry was appropriate, and achieved a balance between photographic realism and abstraction. They noted that the gestural quality of the drawing conveyed emotion through line, tone, and contrast.
 - The design team has provided two tapestry aesthetic mockups since the NCPC revised concept review. The first one was installed on May 18, 2017 at the National Building Museum grounds and the second one was installed on September 20, 2017 in front of the LBJ Building. Both mockups were available for CFA and consulting parties review. The latest mockup of the revised art will be available in the morning prior to the Commission meeting.
 - In accordance with Stipulation 11 of the Section 106 Memorandum of Agreement (MOA), NPS issued an updated final determination of effect on September 7, 2017. NPS determined that the design changes would not result in any new adverse effects or intensify any previously identified adverse effects on historic properties.
 - The DC State Historic Preservation Officer reviewed the latest mockup and concurred with NPS's final determination of effect on September 20, 2017, noting that although the tapestry would be clearly visible in front of the Department of Education Building, a significant number of individual panels would be blank, thus allowing the elevation of the National Register of Historic Places-listed building to remain fully legible.
 - In April 2014, NCPC engaged experts from the National Institute of Standards and Technology, the United States Department of Defense, and the Smithsonian Institution to assist in evaluating the results of the applicant's numerous tapestry durability tests. Based on the evaluation performed by this third party, the Commission found that the results of the durability tests conducted by the applicant showed the tapestry materials and panel welds to be resistant to corrosion and mechanically sound. The revised art does not alter the tapestry material, fabrication methods or durability. Therefore, the test results remain valid.

RECOMMENDATION

Approves the revised preliminary and final site and building plans for the Dwight D. Eisenhower Memorial Modification.

Confirms that the revised preliminary and final plans continue to satisfy the site selection design principles adopted by the Commission.

Notes that the applicant has modified the tapestry image to address the Commission's comments regarding the level of transparency and overall proportion of the image on the tapestry. The applicant provided additional visual studies and a mockup on-site as requested by the Commission.

Finds that the tapestry image preserves views to and from the Lyndon Baines Johnson Building U.S. Department of Education Headquarters.

Finds that the revised image does not alter the tapestry material, panel welds or fabrication methods. Therefore, the durability standards, maintenance and operational protocols remain consistent with previous test results included in the Tapestry Engineering and Technical Data Summary, volumes one and two dated February 2014, and the Tapestry Technical Data Supplemental Submission, dated June 2015.

Notes that the young Eisenhower sculpture has been relocated from the Lyndon Baines Johnson (LBJ) Promenade, behind the tapestry, to the memorial foreground as requested by the Commission.

Supports the retention of the four canopy trees previously considered for removal because they strengthen the notion of a memorial within a park, frame the Maryland Avenue viewshed, and provide shade.

Notes that the applicant has responded to the Commission's requests by providing an updated lighting plan; and conducting additional Section 106 consultation.

PROJECT ANALYSIS

Executive Summary

Staff's analysis of the revised preliminary and final plans for the Dwight D. Eisenhower Memorial builds upon the recommendation presented during revised concept review in February 2017 as well as final approval in July 2015. The main portion of this report focuses on the modifications made since the Commission's revised concept review and how the applicant has responded to the Commission's comments as well as comments from other stakeholders. The analysis also includes a brief review of the project's consistency with NCPC's adopted site selection design principles, the project's conformance with the National Capital Planning Act and the Commemorative Works Act. The current design addresses previous commission concerns. Therefore, staff recommends that the Commission approve the preliminary and final site and building plans for the Dwight D. Eisenhower Memorial Modification.

Analysis

Previous Commission Comments

On February 2, 2017, the Commission commented favorably on a revised concept design for the Eisenhower Memorial. At the time, the applicant proposed three modifications since the Commission's 2015 approval of final site and building plans for the Dwight D. Eisenhower. The proposed modifications included:

1. Revising the image on the tapestry from a landscape scene of Abilene, Kansas (Eisenhower's hometown) to a contemporary peacetime aerial image of the Normandy coast, France, from the sea looking towards the land, with Pointe Du Hoc at the center, depicting Omaha and Utah beaches on each side, in remembrance of the sacrifices of D-Day;
2. Relocating the statue of young Eisenhower from the overlook at the center of the memorial to the LBJ Promenade near the Department of Education entrance; and
3. Removing four canopy trees adjacent to the memorial core to increase the views of the revised tapestry image from the approved planting plan.

The Commission provided two findings and requested additional information before preliminary and final review. The Commission found the overall placement, scale and assembly of the primary memorial elements had not significantly changed since the July 2015 final approval, including the stainless steel tapestry and supporting colonnade, freestanding columns, memorial core, landscaping, and information center. In addition, the Commission found that the revised memorial design concept continued to satisfy the seven site selection design principles adopted by the Commission in September 2006. The Commission requested the following information:

- Additional visual studies and a mockup of the revised tapestry on-site addressing any impacts on the LBJ Building through the tapestry, the memorial itself and surrounding context.
- A revised lighting plan that considered the relocated young Eisenhower sculpture.
- Additional Section 106 consultation to ensure that the proposed design changes would not intensify adverse effects.

During the meeting, the Commission's concerns focused on the proportion and transparency of the tapestry image, and the new location of the young Eisenhower statue. They did not find the arguments for these changes very compelling and requested more information regarding these changes. Specifically, the Commission provided the following comments:

- 1) The Commission questioned the ability to read and recognize the coastline of Normandy and distinguish between the water, land, and sky from the presentation materials. They noted that the majority of the coast falls within the lower part of the tapestry resulting in an image that is largely composed by clouds. As a result, the horizon line would not be legible especially since it sits below the tree canopy of the site. They noted that by lowering the horizon line from the original Kansas landscape image, the image gained transparency by adding a lot of sky, but compromised coherence. They recommended raising the horizon line. They also noted that the image seemed forced and stretched to fit the 447-foot long canvas size, and recommended to further study the image proportion and composition in relationship to the size of the tapestry.
- 2) The Commission raised concerns about removing the young Eisenhower sculpture from a central location at the memorial core to the LBJ promenade, behind the tapestry, where it could no longer be seen. At the time, the young Eisenhower sculpture was not visible from Maryland Avenue, as the sculpture was seated on a low (3-foot-tall) pedestal behind the memorial core. The Commission was not convinced with the new location of the young Eisenhower statue. There were still outstanding questions of why it could not be located at a more visible location, perhaps at one of the corners of the site, and what would happen if GSA decided to sell the Department of Education building and redevelop the site in the future and the proposed children's art work programming on the LBJ promenade changes overtime. This location also created circulation conflicts with the proposed outdoor seating and gathering areas along the promenade. They suggested that the applicant continue to study a more prominent location in the memorial foreground.

Design Review Summary

Since the February 2017 revised concept, the applicant installed a three-panel mockup of the revised tapestry with the Normandy design on May 18, 2017, in conjunction with the Commission of Fine Arts (CFA) meeting at the National Building Museum's east parking lot. In accordance with Stipulation 11 of the Section 106 Memorandum of Agreement (MOA), the tapestry mockup was available for signatories, invited signatories, and consulting parties. Concurrently, CFA reviewed a revised final submission, taking no action due to continuing concerns with the development of the revisions to the memorial's design, including the proportion and transparency of the tapestry image, removal of four large trees, and the location of the young Eisenhower. CFA requested that a second, larger mock-up be provided on-site, in front of the Department of Education Building and recommended the team continue to refine the image and the fabrication methods of the tapestry to improve the image clarity. Similarly, the SHPO expressed concerns about the tapestry mockup and was unable to make a determination regarding the potential for new or intensified adverse effects until they had an opportunity to review the mockup at the Eisenhower Memorial site.

Responses to Previous Commission Comments

Based on previous comments from the Commission and other stakeholders, and after further study of the May 18, 2017 tapestry mockup, the design team concluded that a graphic approach to the Normandy landscape with higher contrast would be more successful for improving image clarity against the backdrop of the Lyndon B. Johnson building. The applicant has made the following design refinements:

1. Revised Tapestry
2. Relocated Young Eisenhower Sculpture and New Inscription Wall with Abilene Homecoming Speech
3. Retained four added trees previously proposed for removal
4. Updated Lighting Plan

1. Revised Tapestry

Last February, the Commission requested additional visual studies and a mock-up of the revised tapestry that address any impacts to the Lyndon B. Johnson Department of Education Headquarters including views of the building through the tapestry, the memorial itself, and surrounding context.

The applicant has provided additional visual studies of the memorial with the revised tapestry, including an aerial view of the memorial physical model, a view from the center of the memorial core, and a view looking south at the northwest entry plaza. The applicant has also provided night views of Maryland Avenue towards the Capitol, memorial core, and northwest entry plaza. In addition, the applicant provided an aesthetic mockup of the revised tapestry in front of the LBJ Building on September 20, 2017. The progress mockup consisted of two panels, showing different density approaches: a denser panel (more opaque) and a lighter panel (more transparent). Although, the final result will include a combination of light and dark panels, the simplified linework achieves higher transparency levels by eliminating the sky. It allows reciprocal views of the LBJ building. The design team has also addressed the Commission's concerns regarding the tapestry image proportion and level of transparency; focusing on the landscape foreground and enlarging the Pointe du Hoc cliffs.

The proposed tapestry remains approximately 447 feet long by 60 feet wide supported by columns that are approximately 80 feet tall and 10 feet in diameter. The tapestry is centered on the LBJ Building approximately 71 feet from the building's north façade. The bottom of the tapestry is raised 20 feet above the ground plane to allow pedestrian passage underneath with the top of the tapestry aligned with the first cornice line of the LBJ Building, approximately 80 feet above grade.

The tapestry itself is composed of approximately 596 panels, each panel measures three feet in width by fifteen feet in vertical length.

The following summarizes how the applicant addressed previous Commission comments regarding the proportion and transparency of the tapestry image.

Proportion: The Commission questioned the ability to read and recognize the coastline of Normandy and distinguish between the water, land, and sky from the presentation materials. They noted that the majority of the coast falls within the lower part of the tapestry resulting in an image that is largely composed by clouds. They recommended raising the horizon line. They also noted that the image seemed forced and stretched to fit the 447-foot long canvas size, and recommended to further study the image proportion and composition in relationship to the size of the tapestry. In response to the Commission's comments, the image is now centered within the frame of the tapestry, and fits the tapestry proportionally, leaving blank spaces around the frame. The image now focusses on the landscape instead of the water and sky. The landscape fades away around the east, west and south edges of the tapestry.

Transparency: Early in the design process, the design team established maximum opacity levels for engineering purposes for the 2011 tapestry mockup of the Kansas Landscape. These conservative values were developed for a wind tunnel test for the structural design of the cable net and columns, with the expectation that the real density levels would be less than these maximum values. The 60-foot tall tapestry was divided into three approximately equal horizontal sections. The opacity on the tapestry ranged from approximately 95 percent solid along the bottom of the image, transitioning to about 50 percent open in the middle and at the top about 20 percent opaque. The February 2017 revised tapestry with the Normandy image followed similar transparency levels. According to the estimated densities diagram, the transparency levels of the tapestry were maintained from the previous Kansas Landscape to ensure views to the LBJ Building and retain the building's identity. In general, both tapestries were more transparent towards the sky and denser at the bottom.

The current tapestry image has a graphic linework with some shaded accents on the vertical face of the cliffs and is more open and transparent. The applicant has indicated that 20 percent of the panels will be blank, without any linework other than the base structural grid of the panel, which will be 100 percent transparent. This is due to the elimination of the sky, and the way the cliffs and water fade on the edges of the tapestry, providing a floating effect. The design team has provided an opacity level diagram for comparison purposes, showing a similar conservative approach from the original tapestry design. The diagram shows that the 60-foot tall tapestry is divided into three approximately equal sections. The maximum opacity levels range from 10 percent opaque at the bottom to 30 percent opaque in the middle and 10 percent opaque at the top. Overall, the tapestry has equal transparency levels at the upper and lower sections, and is denser in the middle.

When comparing the current estimated density levels to the previous Kansas Landscape image, staff finds the following:

- The top section of the previous image provided the greatest transparency levels, with 20 percent opaque. The top section of the current image provides 10 percent opacity. The top portion of the current image is more transparent.
- The middle section of the previous image was 50 percent opaque. The middle section of the current tapestry, which represents the densest area of the image, is now 30 percent opaque. The middle section of the current image is more transparent.
- The lower section of the previous image provided the least level of transparency with 95 percent opacity. The lower section of the current image is now 10 percent opaque, which significantly improves transparency levels. The top and bottom portions are now more transparent.

As shown in the opacity diagrams shown in page 22 in the attached powerpoint, overall, the revised tapestry will be more transparent than the previous Kansas landscape and will not block reciprocal views to and from the LBJ building. The simplification of the linework and the lack of sky and clouds contributes to the transparency levels.

During the September 20, 2017 mockup review, NCPC staff accessed the LBJ Building third floor offices, and confirmed that the revised tapestry maintains an adequate level of transparency from the LBJ building looking out into the memorial site and surrounding buildings. The tapestry allows views to the exterior through the voids and shaded areas from the interior of the LBJ building. Similarly, looking from the memorial site, staff found that the LBJ building façade is visible through the tapestry and maintains a strong urban presence.

Based on the analysis presented above, staff notes that the applicant has modified the tapestry image to address the Commission's comments regarding level of transparency and the overall proportion of the image on the tapestry. The applicant provided additional visual studies and a mockup on-site as requested by the Commission. Staff also finds that the image preserves views to and from the Lyndon Baines Johnson Building U.S. Department of Education Headquarters.

2. Relocated Young Eisenhower Sculpture and New Inscription Wall

As mentioned in the previous Commission's comments section above, during the February 2017 concept review, the Commission expressed concerns about removing the young Eisenhower sculpture from the center of the memorial to a less visible and prominent location at the LBJ promenade, behind the tapestry. The design team has further refined the statue of Eisenhower as a young man in response to previous Commission comments.

Eisenhower's legacy has a strong relationship to the context of this precinct. The National Air and Space Museum (NASM), the Federal Aviation Administration Building (FAA), the US Department of Education building, and the US Department of Health and Human Services building all have ties to Eisenhower's achievements. These strong thematic relationships were a contributing factor in the 2006 site selection process. The applicant considered this relationships in order to select a location for the young Eisenhower sculpture.

The applicant considered two other locations for the Young Eisenhower statue, including a central location at the intersection of the Memorial Overlook and the LBJ Promenade near the top of west the ramp, and another option on the LBJ promenade, near the entry to the LBJ Department of Education. Based on previous Commission comments, the statue is now located at the northwest plaza entrance into the memorial, this location balances the southeastern side of the memorial with the Information Center. The artist has refined the sculpture pose, with the figure seated on a 30" high podium to provide a sense of intimacy as visitors enter the site and allow them to walk around the sculpture. The design team introduced an inscription wall with an excerpt from the Homecoming speech that Eisenhower gave upon his return to Abilene in 1945. In this speech, Eisenhower references his strong connection with his hometown of Abilene, Kansas. According to the submission materials, the sculpture showing the Kansas youth and the Abilene Homecoming inscription encourages visitors entering the memorial to connect with Eisenhower's personal story as an American story.

The new design for the Young Eisenhower sculpture and Abilene Homecoming Inscription wall has resulted in moving two benches from the south edge of the northwest entry plaza to the eastern edge of this plaza. The total number of benches remains the same as the 2015 approved design. There are 35 benches on the project. Each bench is ten feet long.

The location of the sculpture and new inscription wall complements the memorial thematic organization and chronological events during Eisenhower's life. The west side of the memorial is devoted to honoring Eisenhower's career as a military officer, and includes the General Eisenhower Element to the west of the memorial core and the General Eisenhower Commemorative Column in the northwest corner of the site.

The location of the young Eisenhower sculpture near the General Eisenhower Column, which commemorates the Supreme Allied Commander and includes a bronze symbol mounted at eye level depicting the 5-star General Insignia, strengthens the symbolic narrative and sense of place of the west plaza. It also announces the entrance into the memorial park, similar to the way in which the Continuum sculpture, located across Independence Avenue on axis with 6th Street, announces the NASM's south entrance. The location of sculptural elements along the west side is consistent with the surrounding context. The Delta Solar sculpture, located on the west end of the NASM grounds, acts as the portal to the National Mall. Lastly, given the pedestrian circulation patterns along Independence Avenue and 7th Street and the proximity to the L'Enfant metro station, more visitors will arrive from the west side of the memorial.

The new six-foot tall by fifteen-foot long inscription wall plays an important role framing the southern edge of the plaza. The intermediate height of the wall reinforces the transition from human scale of the young Eisenhower sculpture to the larger memorial elements, such as the adjacent monumental column. Therefore, staff finds that the placement of the young Eisenhower sculpture and related inscription wall at the entry plaza on the northwest corner of the site complements the memorial elements and thematic organization; relates to the surrounding context; provides a relevant setting for this key memorial piece; and creates a sense of arrival.

Staff notes that the young Eisenhower sculpture has been relocated from the Lyndon Baines Johnson (LBJ) Promenade, behind the tapestry, to the memorial foreground as requested by the Commission.

3. Retained four added trees previously proposed for removal

The landscape planting plan has returned to the previously approved 2015 design. In February 2017, the team proposed the removal of four trees adjacent to the Memorial core to increase views to the tapestry. The tree removal has been reconsidered, and is no longer being proposed. The current design proposes a species revision at the memorial core center tree from a London Plane to a Bur Oak to give the central grove of trees a stronger character and presence. Additionally, an existing street tree originally proposed to remain on Sixth Street, SW, is being replaced with a Swamp White Oak in the current design to match the other proposed street trees along the west edge of the memorial. The existing tree is being removed from the project due to the poor health.

In its January 23, 2017 meeting, CFA did not support the proposed removal of the four canopy trees from the design, commenting that this removal would reduce shade for visitors to the Memorial while not appreciably improving the perception of the tapestry. During the February 2017 concept review, NCPC staff noted in the staff report that the removal of four canopy trees would affect the urban tree canopy and shade along the proposed public space; however the impact would not be significant. In addition, staff found that the overall landscape design continued to respect the alignment of trees and frame the Maryland Avenue cartway, framing the Capitol vista. Maintaining the trees will contribute to this shaded oasis along Independence Avenue and improve the visitor experience. Therefore, staff supports the retention of the four canopy trees previously considered for removal because they strengthen the notion of a memorial within a park, frame the Maryland Avenue viewshed and provide shade.

4. Updated Lighting Plan

In February 2017, the Commission requested a revised lighting plan consistent with the overall lighting design for the memorial that considers the relocated young Eisenhower sculpture and its associated inscription wall. The lighting plan is the same as the previously approved design with the addition of lighting for the sculpture of Eisenhower as a young man and the new inscription wall at the Northwest Entry Plaza. The applicant has provided updated lighting plans, a perspective night view of the memorial core, and a rendering of the Homecoming Speech Inscription Wall and the figure of Eisenhower as a young man looking south.

The applicant proposes to illuminate the sculpture of Eisenhower as a youth with a single projector designed to focus on the statue. The Homecoming Speech inscription wall will have linear uplighting at the base of the wall similar to the Memorial core inscription walls.

Lastly, the Commission requested the applicant conduct additional Section 106 consultation to ensure that the proposed design changes would not result in new or intensified adverse effects to historic properties. This topic is discussed in more detail in the National Historic Preservation Act section. Therefore, staff notes that the applicant has responded to the Commission's requests by providing an updated lighting plan; and conducting additional Section 106 consultation.

2006 Site Selection Design Principles

In 2006, at the time NCPC approved the site for the memorial, the Commission adopted the following design principles to preserve and enhance the unique character of this site and establish a new green space within the context of L'Enfant's plan for Washington DC:

1. Preserve reciprocal views to and from the U.S. Capitol along Maryland Avenue, SW.
2. Enhance the nature of the site as one in a sequence of public spaces embellishing the Maryland Avenue vista.
3. Create a unified memorial site that integrates the disparate parcels into a meaningful and functional public gathering place that also unifies the surrounding precinct.
4. Reflect L'Enfant Plan principles by shaping the memorial site as a separate and distinct public space that complements the Department of Education Headquarters and other surrounding buildings.
5. Respect and complement the architecture of the surrounding precinct.
6. Respect the building lines of the surrounding rights-of-way and the alignment of trees along Maryland Avenue.
7. Incorporate significant green space into the design of the memorial.

Fulfillment of the design principles were required as mitigation in the Finding of No Significant Impact for NCPC's approval of the site. As included in the February 2017 staff report, the overall placement, scale and assembly of the primary memorial elements have not significantly changed since the 2015 final approval, including the stainless steel tapestry and supporting colonnade, freestanding columns, memorial core, landscaping, and information center. As such, staff confirms that the revised preliminary and final plans continue to satisfy the site selection design principles adopted by the Commission.

CONFORMANCE TO EXISTING PLANS, POLICIES AND RELATED GUIDANCE

Comprehensive Plan for the National Capital

The Dwight D. Eisenhower Memorial Modification is consistent with the policies in the Federal Elements of the Comprehensive Plan for the National Capital. In particular, the project meets the objectives of the Urban Design; Federal Environment; Historic Preservation; Visitors and Commemoration; and Parks and Open Space Elements.

As noted in previous recommendations, the Historic Preservation Element encourages the placement of memorials along L'Enfant avenues in a manner that protects historic views and vistas, the settings of historic properties, and the openness of L'Enfant rights-of-way. The policies place a heavy emphasis on protecting the integrity, form, and design of the L'Enfant Plan's system of streets and reservations from inappropriate new buildings and physical incursions. The two freestanding columns that have replaced the previously proposed east and west tapestries have reduced the impacts on the L'Enfant Plan. The number of memorial elements that encroach into the Maryland Avenue right-of-way and viewshed has been minimized when compared to earlier designs for the memorial. The western end of the tapestry and eastern freestanding column remain in the Maryland Avenue 160-foot right-of-way, but the view towards the Capitol has increased from 95 to 135 feet in width and retains a horizontal orientation. The final design was successful in balancing an appropriate scale for a Presidential memorial with the surrounding historic context. The revised preliminary and final plans remain consistent with the Comprehensive Plan.

Memorials and Museums Master Plan

Since the overall placement, scale and assembly of the primary memorial elements have not significantly changed since final approval, our earlier determination remains valid, and the revised preliminary and final plans continue to be consistent with the 2M Plan. As noted in the July 2015 and October 2014 staff recommendations, elimination of the east and west tapestries reduced the perceived mass and scale of the memorial in a manner that is more balanced with regard to the treatment of the Maryland Avenue viewshed. Additionally, the 2M Plan promotes a memorial on this site that allows for public gatherings as well as a commemorative reflection. The use of the two freestanding columns defines the perimeter of the park space within the larger site and surrounding urban environment. The overall result is a memorial core contained within a park. The final design successfully balances the establishment of a memorial to President Dwight D. Eisenhower and the need to protect public open space in the District of Columbia by having this site also function as a public park. The revised plan does not affect the notion of a memorial within a park and continues to allow both public gatherings as well as a commemorative reflection.

National Historic Preservation Act

Both NCPC and NPS have an independent responsibility under Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act. NPS and NCPC consulted with the District of Columbia State Historic Preservation Officer (DC SHPO) and several other consulting parties through the Section 106 process. Collectively, they determined that the undertaking would have an adverse effect on the L'Enfant and McMillan Plans, the National Mall, the LBJ Building and its northern plaza, the Wilbur Wright Federal Building, the National Air and Space Museum, and the Wilbur J. Cohen Building, which are listed or eligible for listing in the National Register of Historic Places. As a result of this determination, the NPS, NCPC, DC SHPO, the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation (ACHP), and the Eisenhower Memorial Commission (EMC) entered into a Memorandum of Agreement (MOA) on March 1, 2012 for five years pursuant to Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act in order to address the adverse effects that would result from the establishment of the Eisenhower Memorial. On March 1, 2017, the MOA expired pursuant to its duration provision, resulting in the reissuance of a new MOA for a period of five years beginning on May 3, 2017.

Following the Commission's preliminary approval, NPS continued consultation under Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act in accordance with the MOA. NPS held a Section 106 meeting December 9th, 2014 for signatories and consulting parties. Following this consultation, NPS circulated their final determination of effect on the final design for the project. NPS issued a Final Determination of Effect, per Stipulation 11 of the MOA, on May 8, 2015. In the final determination of effect, NPS concluded that "no new or intensified adverse effects on historic properties would result from the final design for the memorial." The DC SHPO concurred with NPS' final determination of effect and noted that the adverse effects had been minimized sufficiently to achieve the goals of the Section 106 process.

In order to fulfil the design consultation stipulations included in the MOA, at its February, 2017 meeting, the Commission requested that the applicant conduct additional Section 106 consultation to ensure that the proposed design changes would not result in new or intensified adverse effects to historic properties. In accordance with Stipulation 11 of the MOA, NPS issued a second final determination of effect on May 5, 2017 based on recent design changes. At the time, NPS determined that these changes would not result in new adverse effects or intensify the previously identified adverse effects to historic properties. NPS circulated its final determination of effect on May 8, 2017 and a revised tapestry mockup was available on May 18, 2017 at the National Building Museum's east parking lot for the signatories, invited signatories, and consulting parties.

The DC SHPO provided a comment letter on May 19, 2017 noting that the Department of Education Building was recently listed in the National Register of Historic Places, and given CFA's concerns, the SHPO needed to make certain that they understood how the proposed tapestry revisions would affect the historic building. Therefore, they were unable to make a meaningful and informed determination regarding the potential for new or intensified adverse effects until they had an opportunity to review a second mockup at the Eisenhower Memorial site, as requested by CFA during the May 18, 2017 meeting.

On September 7, 2017 NPS circulated a third final determination of effect based on the preliminary and final design modifications. NPS concluded that the tapestry would be as transparent as the previously approved design of the Kansas Landscape. The DC SHPO reviewed a revised tapestry mockup and concurred with NPS's final determination of effect on September 20, 2017, noting that although the tapestry would be clearly visible in front of the Department of Education Building, a significant number of individual panels would be blank, thus allowing the elevation of the National Register of Historic Places-listed building to remain fully legible. NPS received one comment from an unaffiliated individual that is part of the Company of Military Historians related to the artistic interpretation of the tapestry. This comment was not specifically related to the basis of the final determination of effect.

National Environmental Policy Act

To fulfill its obligation under the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA), NPS, in association with EMC, completed the Dwight D. Eisenhower Memorial Design Environmental Assessment (EA) in September 2011, which analyzed three design alternatives and a no action alternative. The EA prepared for the memorial design tiers off of the project's June 2006 Site Selection EA. NCPC also has an independent NEPA obligation resulting from its approval authority over the project, and thus was a cooperating agency in the preparation of the EA. GSA was also a cooperating agency. The EA analyzed each of the alternatives for impacts to the following environmental topic areas: cultural resources; including aesthetics, viewshed, archeological, and historic; hazardous materials and waste; park operations and management; soils; transportation systems; vegetation; visitor use and experience; and water resources.

The NPS solicited public input on the scope and content of the EA by way of public meetings and its Planning, Environment, and Public Comment (PEPC) website. The final EA was also made available for a 30-day public comment period from September 19, 2011, to October 19, 2011. On March 6, 2012, following review and consideration of the comments received, NPS issued a Finding of No Significant Impact (FONSI) for implementation of EA Alternative #3, Maryland Park/Tapestry alternative.

NCPC relied upon the Site Selection EA to issue its August 31, 2006, Finding of No Significant Impact which found approval of the memorial site would not significantly affect the human environment on the condition that the applicant design the memorial using the design principles. NCPC's FONSI incorporated these design principles as required mitigation. In October 2014 with its preliminary approval the Commission found that an action to approve the memorial design would not cause significant impacts to the human environment based upon the content of the two EAs prepared for the project, and the finding that the memorial design satisfied the required mitigation contained in the 2006 Site Selection FONSI. With the final approval for the project, in July 2015, the Commission confirmed that the action to approve the final plans would not have a significant impact on the human environment.

National Capital Planning Act

The National Capital Planning Act established NCPC as the central planning agency for the federal government in the National Capital Region for purposes of preserving the important historical and natural features of the nation's capital. NCPC carries out this important mission partly through its mandate to develop, jointly with the Mayor of the District of Columbia, a Comprehensive Plan for the National Capital. In addition to various polices intended to protect and enhance parks, open space, and the natural environment, the Comprehensive Plan contains several policies intended to preserve historic and potentially historic resources. Several of these policies aim to protect the historic L'Enfant and McMillan Plans. In October 2014, the Commission found the preliminary plans for the memorial to be consistent with the purposes of the National Capital Planning Act. In July 2015, the Commission found that the final plans remained consistent as the adverse effects on the L'Enfant Plan had been minimized as the extent to which memorial elements encroaching on the Maryland Avenue right-of-way had been reduced. As noted in previous staff reports, the final plans emphasized the horizontal orientation of the viewshed along Maryland Avenue and staff recognized that there was a balance between establishing a Presidential memorial on the site and recognizing its historic setting. The scale and configuration of the main memorial elements have not significantly changed since the 2015 final approval; therefore, the project remains consistent with the National Capital Planning Act.

Commemorative Works Act

The purposes of the Commemorative Works Act (CWA) are to preserve the integrity of the comprehensive design of the L'Enfant and McMillan Plans for the Nation's Capital, to ensure the continued public use and enjoyment of open space in the District of Columbia, and to encourage the location of commemorative works within the urban fabric of the District of Columbia. In addition to providing the regulatory framework by which commemorative works are located in the District of Columbia and its environs, which in part is intended to help ensure commemorative works are appropriately designed, constructed and located, the CWA also contains a set of decision criteria that must be used by the agencies involved in making decisions on commemorative works. Specifically, the Act requires that agencies be guided, but not limited by, the following criteria: surroundings, material, landscape features, museums, site-specific guidelines¹ and donor contributions.

NCPC has provided comments on concept designs (February 2011) and reviewed preliminary plans for the memorial in April 2014 and October 2014. NCPC approved the final plans in July 2015, and provided comments on a revised concept design in February 2017. The following description summarizes the comments regarding compliance with the CWA throughout the review process.

As part of the April 2014 initial preliminary submission package, the applicant provided a compilation of engineering data related to the tapestry dated February 5, 2014, which consisted of two volumes:

- Volume 1: Tapestry Overview and Engineering Summary
- Volume 2: Tapestry Technical Data Summary

With its April 2014 preliminary review comments, the Commission noted that the CWA required that NCPC, CFA, and the Secretary of the Interior be guided by a specific set of decision criteria when considering design proposals, including whether a commemorative work will be built of durable materials.

In addition, the Commission noted that due to the untested complexity of the tapestry, and to ensure that its actions were consistent with its responsibilities under the CWA, NCPC engaged experts from National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST), the United States Department of Defense (DoD), and the Smithsonian Institution (SI) to assist in evaluating the results of the applicant's numerous durability tests. Lastly, the Commission found that the results of the durability tests showed that the stainless steel alloy proposed for the tapestry panels exhibited resistance to corrosion and the proposed tapestry panel welds were likely to be mechanically sound, and therefore, the proposed tapestry materials and fabrication methods met the CWA durability criteria.

The Commission requested that by final review stage the applicant demonstrated that the tapestry material and welds continued to reach the same durability standards as fabrication methods were further refined. The Commission also requested the recommended maintenance regimen, including cleaning, would not cause weld failure if carried out properly. Finally, the Commission requested the operational protocols that would be employed to avoid danger to the public during instances where snow and ice has accumulated on the tapestries.

During the October 2014 revised preliminary review, the Commission found that the project successfully met each of the specific decision criteria enumerated in the CWA, including the requirement that a commemorative work be built of durable materials suitable to the outdoor environment, noting the Commission's April 2014 finding that the results of the durability tests conducted by the applicant showed the tapestry materials and panel welds to be resistant to corrosion and mechanically sound. The Commission also noted its prior request that at the final review stage the applicant address the concerns regarding the tapestry material and welds durability, maintenance, cleaning and operational protocols to avoid danger to the public during instances where snow and ice has accumulated on the tapestries.

In response to previous Commission's request, the applicant provided a Tapestry Technical Data Supplemental Submission, dated June 5, 2015 during final review stage. At the July 2015 final review, the Commission noted that the applicant had demonstrated that the tapestry material and welds would continue to meet the durability criteria enumerated in the CWA; and that the applicant had submitted a maintenance plan, including operational protocols, that addressed such matters as cleaning the tapestry and public safety concerns when snow and ice accumulate on it.

The revised tapestry image continues to meet the criteria of the CWA. The tapestry fabrication methods for durability, maintenance and operational protocols outlined in the Tapestry Engineering and Technical Data Summary, and Supplemental Submission which was provided to NCPC as part of the 2014 and 2015 preliminary and final reviews remain applicable regardless of the image design change. The revised art does not alter these established fabrication methods.

Notes that the revised tapestry image does not alter the tapestry materials, panel welds or fabrication methods. Therefore, the durability standards, maintenance and operational protocols remain consistent with the analysis included in the Eisenhower Memorial Tapestry Engineering and Technical Data Summary dated February 2014 and the Tapestry Technical Data Supplemental Submission, dated June 2015.

CONSULTATION

National Capital Memorials Advisory Committee (NCMAC)

As required by the Commemorative Works Act, memorial sponsors must consult with the National Capital Memorials Advisory Committee (NCMAC) on the selection of alternative sites and design concepts prior to submitting the project to NCPC and CFA for formal design review. In fulfillment of this requirement, EMC made an initial presentation of the memorial design to NCMAC at its April 21, 2010 meeting. Two additional presentations took place on February 16, 2011 and September 14, 2011.

Coordinating Committee

The Coordinating Committee reviewed the proposal at its September 13, 2017 meeting. The Committee forwarded the proposed revised preliminary and final site and building plans to the Commission with the statement that the proposal has been coordinated with all participating agencies, except for the SHPO. The SHPO noted that their coordination could occur until the final review required by the project Memorandum of Agreement was completed – specifically, the review of the revised tapestry mockup, which was held on September 2017. The participating agencies were: NCPC; the District of Columbia Office of Planning; the State Historic Preservation Officer; the District of Columbia Department of Transportation; the District Department of Energy and Environment; the General Services Administration; the National Park Service and the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority.

As mentioned in the July 2015 staff report, the site is composed of three parts controlled by three separate entities: Maryland Avenue right-of-way is under the jurisdiction of the District of Columbia Government. To the north of the Maryland Avenue right-of-way is an approximately one-half acre area controlled by the National Park Service (NPS). This area currently contains a community garden and small exercise facility. The remaining 1.5 acres of the site located south of Maryland Avenue is controlled by the United States General Services Administration (GSA) and features a hardscape plaza that was constructed with the LBJ Building as the building's entry forecourt. The plaza is sparsely vegetated and contains a sunken courtyard that exists to provide natural light to the Department of Education's basement-level.

During the May 10, 2017 Coordinating Committee meeting, DDOT raised concerns about transferring jurisdiction of sidewalk areas along Independence Avenue, 4th and 6th Streets, SW from DDOT to NPS for the purpose of constructing and operating the Eisenhower Memorial. At its July 9, 2015, concurrently with the Eisenhower Memorial final approval, the Commission provided comments on the closure of Maryland Avenue between 4th and 6th Street, SW to the District of Columbia Council (NCPC File No. 7684). In addition the Commission approved the transfer of jurisdiction of a portion of Maryland Avenue between 4th and 6th Streets, SW along with portions of 4th, 6th Streets and Independence Avenue, SW to NPS in order to create a unified site for the Eisenhower Memorial that would be managed by NPS.

DDOT and NPS are currently developing an agreement on the conditions of the transfer and management of the sidewalk space. The District and NPS agree to the following stipulations, which are still in progress:

- The transfer of jurisdiction would not take effect until the NPS issues a permit for construction of the Memorial. If for some reason the Memorial is not actually constructed then the original rights-of- way would revert to the jurisdiction of the District.
- The transferred sidewalk areas will be reconstructed in accordance with streetscape standards established for Independence Avenue.
- Cooperate on any future proposed changes to the Independence Avenue SW cartway, including transfers of jurisdiction back to the District over portions of the sidewalk.
- NPS may, through the issuance of right-of- way permits, authorize utility infrastructure not otherwise relocated as a result of the project.

- The District will retain the right to install parking meters in the sidewalk areas of 4th Street, S.W., 6th Street, S.W., and Independence Avenue, S.W. and will have access to repair and maintain those meters as may be necessary.
- The District will own all streetlights, either existing and retained or newly installed, within the sidewalk areas of the Transfer Property. The lights will be connected to District-owned electrical lines and the District will be responsible for the electric bills. The District will retain the right to access, maintain, and repair the streetlights.

The outcome of this agreement will not change the design, as the memorial streetscape design will follow DDOT sidewalk design standards. The applicant has submitted documents to DDOT and DCRA and coordination is ongoing. Once NCPC has approved the project, the applicant will apply for a public space permit. NCPC approval is required by the CWA to formally move the project into construction stage.

GSA has indicated that they will dispose the triangular plaza located immediately to the north of the LBJ Building to NPS prior to construction of the memorial. GSA will retain control of a 50-foot buffer area along the north façade of the LBJ Building. GSA has already declared the parcel excess, and is in receipt of the NPS expression of Federal interest for the property. GSA will transfer custody and accountability to NPS. Following construction, NPS will be responsible for the long-term operation and maintenance of the memorial.

U.S. Commission of Fine Arts

The U.S. Commission of Fine Arts (CFA) reviewed the project pursuant to the Commemorative Works Act and approved the revised final plans on September 20, 2017. Prior to its revised final approval, CFA reviewed the revised concept in two occasions: May 18 and January 23, 2017.

The applicant submitted a revised final submission to the Commission of Fine Arts (CFA) for its May 2017 meeting. CFA had the opportunity to inspect a mockup of a small portion of the tapestry at the National Building Museum's east parking lot. Although, CFA reaffirmed its previous approval for the tapestry art substitution during concept design, CFA did not take further action due to continuing concerns with the overall development of the revisions to the memorial's design. CFA had originally approved the final plans on June 18, 2015. Before its final approval, CFA reviewed the previous concept on the following occasions: January 2011, September 2011, July 2013, November 2013, February 2014, October 2014, November 2014, February 2015, March 2015, April 2015, and May 2015.

Chairman Bryant and NCPC Commissioners,

On behalf of the Eisenhower family, I want to express our support for these recent design modifications made to the tapestry image by the Gehry team. The striking new image with its artistic rendering of the Normandy coastline in peacetime will serve as a meaningful memorial to Eisenhower's leadership, and the sacrifices made by the Allied forces in the liberation of Europe. It will also be a reminder of the peace that was secured during his presidency. We hope with these recent modifications that the project will proceed to construction.

Thank you all very much for your work in making this tribute a reality.

BECAUSE NO MAN IS REALLY A MAN WHO HAS LOST OUT OF HIMSELF ALL OF THE BOY, I WANT TO SPEAK FIRST OF THE DREAMS OF A BACKWOOD BOY. FREQUENTLY, THEY ARE TO BE OF A STREET CAR CONDUCTOR OR HE SEES HIMSELF AS THE TOWN POLICEMAN, ABOVE ALL HE MAY REACH TO A POSITION OF LOCOMOTIVE ENGINEER, BUT ALWAYS IN HIS DREAMS THAT DAY WHEN HE FINALLY COMES HOME, COMES HOME TO A WELCOME FROM HIS OWN HOME TOWN BECAUSE TODAY THAT DREAM OF MINE OF 45 YEARS OR MORE AGO HAS BEEN REALIZED BEYOND THE WILDEST STRETCHES OF MY OWN IMAGINATION. I COME HERE, FIRST, TO THANK YOU, TO SAY THE PROUDEST THING I CAN CLAIM IS THAT I AM FROM ABILENE, KANSAS.

East Room

Christopher Liddell, Mick Mulvaney, Andrew Bremberg

I. PURPOSE

To showcase the Administration's strategy for regulatory reform and significantly increase the pace of reform across the entire federal government.

II. BACKGROUND

Within the first ten days of his presidency, President Trump signed an Executive Order aimed at rolling back regulations, fulfilling one of his campaign pledges. As part of this Executive Order, the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs (OIRA) is working through the Federal Register with agencies to remove redundant and ineffective regulations.

This event will provide the opportunity for all agencies to present their regulatory reform actions and plans with a broad base of external regulatory experts and groups as they accelerate regulatory reform and ensure the Executive Order's requirements are being met. The focus will be on the process of regulatory reform, not specific regulations.

The event will also be used to support the Fall Unified Agenda that will be released by OIRA in November.

Each designated agency will host a forum to present an update of the agency's regulatory reform actions thus far, plan going forward, and answer questions regarding the ways effective reform can be accelerated.

Briefing Memorandum for the Secretary

MEETING DATE: October 2, 2017

MEETING TIME:

FROM: Peter May, Associate Regional Director for Lands and Planning
National Park Service
(202) 619-7025

SUBJECT: Final approval for the Dwight D. Eisenhower Memorial

DOI Staff Participating:

I. STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

To provide information for the Secretary in anticipation of meeting with Chairman of the Eisenhower Memorial Commission (EMC), Senator Pat Roberts of Kansas.

The Senator will ask the Secretary to support the revised design of the Memorial at the October 5, 2017 meeting of the National Capital Planning Commission (NCPC) and to grant a permit to start construction of the Dwight D. Eisenhower Memorial (Memorial).

II. PARTICIPANTS

- Senator Pat Roberts
- ??

III. BACKGROUND

The EMC was authorized to establish the Memorial in 2002 (P.L.107-117). The Congress subsequently authorized the siting of the Memorial in close proximity to the Mall (Area 1 as defined by the Commemorative Works Act) and has appropriated more than $80 million for planning, design, and construction. The EMC is also raising private funds to cover part of the Memorial's cost.

The EMC went through a careful planning process in close coordination with the NPS and entered into an agreement with the General Services Administration (GSA) whereby GSA managed the contracting, design, and construction processes. Using the GSA's established process for selecting highly skilled designers, the EMC selected architect Frank Gehry to design the Memorial.

The proposed design was subjected to numerous environmental, historic preservation, and design reviews and was modified substantially before gaining preliminary approval from the NCPC in 2014. All necessary environmental and historic preservation compliance work has been completed. The Memorial includes a 60-foot by 400-foot stainless steel "tapestry", samples of which have undergone extensive testing to ensure its long-term durability.

To date the EMC has expended $36.4 million for site selection, design, pre-construction activities, GSA fees, construction management fees, professional services, parking revenue loss agreement with the District of Columbia (necessary because the closure of a portion of Maryland Avenue to create the site will cause a loss of revenue for the District), and the educational component, the “E-Memorial”. In addition, $19.9M has been spent on administrative costs for over 16 years of operation.

Approximately $48 million has been obligated in a Reimbursable Work Authorization with GSA, which is intended to pay for obligations and commitments to Clark Construction for Options One and Two, construction management, NPS Inspector, AE services, and GSA fees. Between $47.7 and $50 million will be needed to complete construction.

In order to start construction of the Memorial, the EMC needs three final approvals:

- CFA – final design was approved September 20, 2017.
- NCPC – final approval is scheduled to be considered on October 5, 2017. [The Secretary is one of twelve members of the NCPC, and has been represented at NCPC’s monthly meetings by NPS Associate Regional Director Peter May.]
- Secretary of the Interior – this approval can only occur once NCPC and CFA approvals are granted, and usually takes the form of a construction permit issued by the NPS.

In August 2017, the GSA awarded a construction contract to Clark Construction. If the Memorial is approved and a permit is issued in October 2017, the EMC projects completion in mid-2020.

IV. DISCUSSION

Beginning in the fall of 2011, members of the Eisenhower family raised concerns about the scale, modern design, themes, and durability of the Memorial. The EMC continued to develop the design and gained final design approvals by July 2015, but the start of construction was stalled due to the disagreement with Eisenhower family members. After several years of discussions involving multiple Members of Congress, and current and former government officials, an agreement was reached between the EMC and the Eisenhower family. As a result of the agreement the Memorial’s tapestry element was changed to depict Normandy Beach rather than the Kansas countryside, and a statue of the young Eisenhower was relocated within the memorial grounds. The Eisenhower family supports the design as currently proposed. (NCPC review submission attached.)

The EMC is composed of four Senators, four Representatives, and four presidential appointees. (A list of the members is attached.) The Memorial as it has been designed has strong, but not unanimous, support from the Congress, as evidenced by numerous extensions of the EMC’s authority to establish the Memorial, several appropriations totaling more than $80 million, and a stated commitment of additional appropriations to complete construction of the memorial.

The EMC is also supported by an Advisory Committee consisting of past Presidents and Vice Presidents, former elected and appointed officials, historians, and other prominent individuals (List of Advisory Committee members is attached).

Despite the support of the Eisenhower family, there remains some opposition to the Memorial, citing issues of its modern design, scale, and durability concerns. Most recently there have been statements of opposition from the National Civic Arts Society, which promotes modern use of classical architectural design, and in editorials in various publications.

Of note, the Secretary of Education, Betsy DeVos, provided video testimony in support of the Memorial's revised design when it was presented to the Commission of Fine Arts (CFA) on September 20, 2017. The Memorial site is directly in front of the Department of Education building, between 4th and 6th Streets, SW, and Independence Avenue, SW.

V. TALKING POINTS/REMARK

VI. NEXT STEPS

The NCPC will consider final approval of the revised design at its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, October 5. The Executive Director of NCPC has issued a report (Attached) recommending that the Commission grant final approval. The Secretary (or his representative) will need to vote or abstain from voting at the meeting.

The NPS is processing the EMC's application for a construction permit and should be prepared to issue it later in October if the Secretary grants approval.

Hi Brian,

The Secretary is all but confirmed to be away on travel during that first week in October; we apologize for the inconvenience. Should that trip get moved, we will certainly be in touch! We are looking to be in Montana later this fall, but an official date and location has not been set at this point.

Would you be interested in meeting with a surrogate while you're here? Regardless, we can certainly work to see if the VIP tour is available.

Please let us know!

Best,
Caroline

Hi Ryan,

I am Going to be Washington D.C. 10/5 & 6.

Would I ke to visit with you if at all possible?
Or, if your planning a Montana visit, let me know.

Will be there attending a conference with other Montana business owners & reps such as GPI & Xanterra.
The purpose for this conference is to discuss the J-1 student visa exchange program that all us employers in Montana use to fulfill our employment needs during the Summer months.
This program is ONLY eligible to university students and the visas are typically 90 to 120 days long.

Currently, I am being told that this program may be canceled or eliminated in the very near future.

You & I have discussed this topic in the past and was hoping to have a few minutes of your time to share my thoughts and visit with you.

Hope all is well with you & your family,

Brian

Would you be interested in meeting with a surrogate while you're here? Regardless, we can certainly work to see if the VIP tour is available.

Please let us know!

Hi Ryan,

I am Going to be Washington D.C. 10/5 & 6.

Would I ke to visit with you if at all possible?
Or, if your planning a Montana visit, let me know.

Will be there attending a conference with other Montana business owners & reps such as GPI & Xanterra.
The purpose for this conference is to discuss the J-1 student visa exchange program that all us employers in Montana use to fulfill our employment needs during the Summer months.
This program is ONLY eligible to university students and the visas are typically 90 to 120 days long.

Currently, I am being told that this program may be canceled or eliminated in the very near future.

You & I have discussed this topic in the past and was hoping to have a few minutes of your time to share my thoughts and visit with you.

Hope all is well with you & your family,

Z-man...When I returned from Viet Nam, the Washington DC press had released announcements that I had been recommended by the Army for the MOH. (b) (6) (Eagle), ST-2, took me aside and warned me that the Navy would not recommend the MOH because it would have been the senior award in the Atlantic Fleet. There was apparently an official message out to screen all operations involving Atlantic Fleet operations in RVN for a potential Officer MOH Awardee. (b) (6) had been put in for the MOH and had been downgraded to Navy Cross for the same reason. Of course, all of this was way above my paygrade and I was honored to receive the Navy Cross.

Under the current administration's apparent interest in upgrading Navy Crosses to MOH, I have received a barrage of offers to forward my information for review. I would rather have the effort to have the Navy Cross award reviewed, be initiated through a former Team Member. If you would like to talk to my Platoon Commander and Asst. Plt. Cdr (b) (6) and (b) (6) they are still around and active in Team activities. I also have affidavits from the three helo pilots involved with the shoot down and recovery.

Again, if this review would interfere with your busy schedule as SOI, pleas let me know.

Much Obliged, Very Respectfully R.J. Thomas

Hey Z-man ...Several people have expressed interest in having my Navy Cross reviewed for re-evaluation and up-graded to the original MOH that I was submitted for by (b) (6) the pilot of the Army Slick that rescued Navy Seawolf pilot (b) (6), two Navy crewman and I in March of 1969. It was announced in the DC papers as the Army having submitted me for the award, but for reasons unexplained, the award was down graded by the Navy to a Navy Cross. Speculation was that being an enlisted member of ST-2, I would have been the senior medal holder in the Atlantic Fleet which would be unacceptable; all Atlantic Fleet ops were being screened for a potential officer awardee to open the MOH to all ranks of Atlantic Fleet sailors, that happened shortly after I was awarded the NC.

I attempted to have a review of my NC while GWB was POTUS but (b) (6) had my package and he went down in flames along with my package. I had no stomach for trying again with BHO. I find POTUS Trump to reflect the values I respect in a President and would be honored to accept the upgraded award from him if he thought it fitting to present it to me. I would rather have a former ST shipmate forward this issue for review and you are the ranking former SEAL that I know.

If you are interested in pursuing this matter, I'll forward affidavits from (b) (6), (b) (6) and (b) (6), the three surviving vets who were with me in the Battle of Ha Tien in March of 1969.

If you are too busy with matters of state and don't wish to pursue this effort, I understand, I'd just rather have a Team Mate behind this effort rather than a high ranking civilian.

Much Obligated, Very Respectfully, RJ Thomas, Cdr. USN Ret.

Z-man...When I returned from Viet Nam, the Washington DC press had released announcements that I had been recommended by the Army for the MOH. (b) (6) (Eagle), ST-2, took me aside and warned me that the Navy would not recommend the MOH because it would have been the senior award in the Atlantic Fleet. There was apparently an official message out to screen all operations involving Atlantic Fleet operations in RVN for a potential Officer MOH Awardee. (b) (6) had been put in for the MOH and had been downgraded to Navy Cross for the same reason. Of course, all of this was way above my paygrade and I was honored to receive the Navy Cross.

Under the current administration's apparent interest in upgrading Navy Crosses to MOH, I have received a barrage of offers to forward my information for review. I would rather have the effort to have the Navy Cross award reviewed, be initiated through a former Team Member. If you would like to talk to my Platoon Commander and Asst. Plt. Cdr (b) (6) and (b) (6) they are still around and active in Team activities. I also have affidavits from the three helo pilots involved with the shoot down and recovery.

Again, if this review would interfere with your busy schedule as SOI, please let me know.

Much Obligated, Very Respectfully R.J. Thomas

Subject: RJT Navy Cross Review

Hey Z-man ...Several people have expressed interest in having my Navy Cross reviewed for re-evaluation and up-graded to the original MOH that I was submitted for by (b) (6) the pilot of the Army Slick that rescued Navy Seawolf pilot (b) (6) two Navy crewman and I in March of 1969. It was announced in the DC papers as the Army having submitted me for the award, but for reasons unexplained, the award was down graded by the Navy to a Navy Cross. Speculation was that being an enlisted member of ST-2, I would have been the senior medal holder in the Atlantic Fleet which would be unacceptable; all Atlantic Fleet ops were being screened for a potential officer awardee to open the MOH to all ranks of Atlantic Fleet sailors, that happened shortly after I was awarded the NC.

I attempted to have a review of my NC while GWB was POTUS but (b) (6) had my package and he went down in flames along with my package. I had no stomach for trying again with BHO. I find POTUS Trump to reflect the values I respect in a President and would be honored to accept the upgraded award from him if he thought it fitting to present it to me. I would rather have a former ST shipmate forward this issue for review and you are the ranking former SEAL that I know.

If you are interested in pursuing this matter, I'll forward affidavits from (b) (6) (b) (6) and (b) (6) the three surviving vets who were with me in the Battle of Ha Tien in March of 1969.

If you are too busy with matters of state and don't wish to pursue this effort, I understand, I'd just rather have a Team Mate behind this effort rather than a high ranking civilian.

Much Obligated, Very Respectfully, RJ Thomas, Cdr. USN Ret.

Ryan – our development plan and your park project are an absolute grand slam. I have never been more excited about a development as I am about this one. I want to continue to move forward with an honest and open dialogue to make this a legacy project for Whitefish. We are honored to be associated with you, your vision, and the Peace Park. We also recognize the energy and ambiance each part of the development lends to one another. I know you are extremely engaged and consumed with your role as Interior Secretary. I want you to know that whatever assistance you need to protect and promote your vision for the park, please let me know and I will make sure it is communicated and executed. I look forward to making this project a huge success and working with you to make this happen. I have a lot of fresh ideas I am happy to share with you and am eager to learn more about you and your family's vision. Also, the name of the project is out of convenience and at this time 95 Karrow. We are looking for a solid and meaningful name borrowing from our rail and timber heritage. Any ideas are welcome. We are considering several names such as "Trestle View", "Timber Town", "Trestle Point", etc. Please let us know if you have any ideas. Thanks and I look forward to hearing from you.

I was reminded of your encouragement for my appointment when I caught you on Bloomberg yesterday which, by the way, I thought was an excellent

We have not spoken or corresponded since you referred my résumé. I was so appreciative of this fact and the kind words to "keep the faith". I have kept the faith and still have hopes of an appointment in the Trump administration. I am more impressed with President Trump everyday. I know I could add to his policies in the education department. Do you have any suggestions as to how I might accelerate this possibility? I will be in DC the week of July 17th for the Christians for Israel conference.

Dear Secretary Zinke,

I was reminded of your encouragement for my appointment when I caught you on Bloomberg yesterday which, by the way, I thought was an excellent interview.

We have not spoken or corresponded since you referred my résumé. I was so appreciative of this fact and the kind words to "keep the faith". I have kept the faith and still have hopes of an appointment in the Trump administration. I am more impressed with President Trump everyday. I know I could add to his policies in the education department. Do you have any suggestions as to how I might accelerate this possibility? I will be in DC the week of July 17th for the Christians for Israel conference.

Sincerely, Elaine

Jack,

As I realized I had forgotten to update you on this change! (the NPS Commissioner in New York loves us with all the changes we've made)

The Secretary's New York schedule and the Statue of Liberty tour did shift around due to a need to be in Pennsylvania on the morning of 9/11 to be with the Vice President. As such, we had to reschedule the Statue of Liberty tour for Tuesday the 12th at 3:00pm. Are you still able to join? Please let us know!

Hi Jack,

Great! Our itinerary is still coming together--we're waiting on some White House guidance so when we have specific times for the visit to the Statue of Liberty, we'll be in touch! The Secretary will be available for dinner just on Monday night. Lola will be there for the whole trip to New York. When you have a location for the dinner, let me know!

Thanks,
Caroline

Ryan, let me know if you're free both mon and Tuesday night for dinner. If so, I will schedule 2 gatherings.

I just spoke w JW Williams who is in nyc for the next year at the CFR doing a fellowship. As you know, he just turned over command of Dev group to matt burns. He's up for joining us for dinner. I will keep both nights to 6-8 good guys for dinner. Let me know if Lola is joining you...if so, we will have a few couples instead of just guys

Ryan, thanks for the invite...I'm free anytime Monday 9/11 (morning or afternoon) and Tuesday 9/12 in the morning. I'm tied up Tuesday afternoon. Can do dinner on the 11th and/or 12th.

Let me know when you're free for dinner and I will pull together a small group of Wall Street hitters if you're up for a good round table discussion. I'm having lunch on Tuesday with mark fields, former CEO of ford. You're welcome to join us.

Hi Effie,

Does the 15th work for you? We could do an 11:30AM meeting in DC. Unfortunately our New York schedule looks like it might be tight, but we can keep in touch through the end of the week to see if times open up.

Please let us know if anyone else would join the meeting as well as potential meeting topics so that we can best prepare the Secretary.

Best,
Caroline

Secratery Zinke,

John Watts here, was reaching out for a couple reasons, one to see if you would be interested in speaking at our Republican Lincoln day dinner next year over in St.mary's county, Maryland. I could have a plane fly to get you from Washington to make it less of a time commitment. We would like this!

Two, I'm business partners with former Governor, Bob McDonnell and we are looking to develop a technical training program for old school SEALs to help them find jobs .Some of these guys as you may know are struggling.

Currently ,I'm working with Bobby Richardson over at the UDT SEAL Association on this and was wondering, Is it possible for me to swing by your DC office to discuss this matter in private?

Anyways, I hope this finds you well and congratulations on new position.

Secretary Zinke,

John Watts here, was reaching out for a couple reasons, one to see if you would be interested in speaking at our Republican Lincoln day dinner next year over in St.mary's county, Maryland. I could have a plane fly to get you from Washington to make it less of a time commitment. We would like this!

Two, I'm business partners with former Governor, Bob McDonnell and we are looking to develop a technical training program for old school SEALs to help them find jobs. Some of these guys as you may know are struggling.

Currently, I'm working with Bobby Richardson over at the UDT SEAL Association on this and was wondering, Is it possible for me to swing by your DC office to discuss this matter in private?

Anyways, I hope this finds you well and congratulations on new position.

OUT,

Hon. John Watts

Subject: Large Scale Water and Energy Infrastructure

Mr Secretary:

I want to touch base. Let me know what the appropriate channels are to do this but I only had your (b) (6) address from the fundraising for Montana and the old SEAL days.

I want to talk about firming up the Colorado water supply by generating fresh water through a twist on desalination but also providing long needed real military base level infrastructure security that can finally make micrograms, with large scale energy storage and water supply a reality.

We could use your assistance with paper swaps on water supply from the Colorado but also with the access to military bases to put the system in place.

My firm has invested into a company, Oceanus, that is providing a very novel but very big reach solution for lower cost fresh water generation and large scale energy storage. They are combining salt water pumped hydro with desalination at coastal locations. Steve Chu looked at the solution recently at Stanford and thought very highly of it and based on that meeting my firm invested.

In California, Pendleton and Vandenberg are the two primary target locations. The technology solves a big piece of the environmental challenge to desalination alone by eliminating the disposal of brine into the ocean but also solves the high cost of large energy storage by using natural terrain and good old gravity. The systems are as large as 500MW of energy and 50MGD of water and over a $1B in cost.

We have also invested in a battery management company, Pathion, that solves the micro-grid challenge on the base. I true energy storage system that can both look at the load but also look at the utility needs and balance use and revenues simultaneously.

I think we finally have a combination of technologies that can be deployed without increasing base level operating costs or need DoD capital for the construction. They can be Public Private financed because the water and power would go to the local grid. In return the base sees true micro-grid battery security, a very large power supply that in an emergency could just be used for the base and fresh water.

I'd like to tell you more. We are working through with part of the team at Pendleton to secure the land, ideally without an RFP.

Can we set up a call, or better, I'd be happy to meet in DC and go over some details.

Respectfully,

Eric

Mr Secretary,

Fantastic. I'll work with Caroline on a few travel days that work.

Per your point below you are spot on. We would not produce more water to go directly into the Colorado. We would take, in one example, a Mexico allocation of water, and allow it to be used by a U.S. customer. The same amount of Mexico allocation would be generated by the desalination and delivered locally so they see the same amount of water but in a more reliable supply. The U.S. customers then can buy the Mexico Colorado water allocation directly or through the project. I'll explain in detail with a few slides as well.

Caroline,

It is a pleaser to meet you. It will be myself and possibly one of my bussing partners, Charlie Snyder.

We would best benefit nailing down an hour window to go through the project and the benefits. We could also do it in less time if we only hit the highlights but I think an hour is the best. The Secretary and I are old friends from the SEALs, DAMNECK and donating to his Montana Congressional seat, and I'd be happy to do it over dinner or lunch as well. We can leave that to him.

Would the afternoon or evening of the 12th work? Alternatively the afternoon or evening of the 21st, both September. If those don't work I can give you some more options.

Subject: Large Scale Water and Energy Infrastructure

Mr Secretary:

I want to touch base. Let me know what the appropriate channels are to do this but I only had your (b) (6) address from the fundraising for Montana and the old SEAL days.

I want to talk about firming up the Colorado water supply by generating fresh water through a twist on desalination but also providing long needed real military base level infrastructure security that can finally make microgrids, with large scale energy storage and water supply a reality.

We could use your assistance with paper swaps on water supply from the Colorado but also with the access to military bases to put the system in place.

My firm has invested into a company, Oceanus, that is providing a very novel but very big reach solution for lower cost fresh water generation and large scale energy storage. They are combining salt water pumped hydro with desalination at coastal locations. Steve Chu looked at the solution recently at Stanford and thought very highly of it and based on that meeting my firm invested.

In California, Pendleton and Vandenberg are the two primary target locations. The technology solves a big piece of the environmental challenge to desalination alone by eliminating the disposal of brine into the ocean but also solves the high cost of large energy storage by using natural terrain and good old gravity. The systems are as large as 500MW of energy and 50MGD of water and over a $1B in cost.

We have also invested in a battery management company, Pathion, that solves the micro-grid challenge on the base. I true energy storage system that can both look at the load but also look at the utility needs and balance use and revenues simultaneously.

I think we finally have a combination of technologies that can be deployed without increasing base level operating costs or need DoD capital for the construction. They can be Public Private financed because the water and power would go to the local grid. In return the base sees true micro-grid battery security, a very large power supply that in an emergency could just be used for the base and fresh water.

I'd like to tell you more. We are working through with part of the team at Pendleton to secure the land, ideally without an RFP.

Can we set up a call, or better, I'd be happy to meet in DC and go over some details.

Respectfully,

Eric

AmeriCorps NCCC/Bureau of Land Management Partnership

The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) California, an agency of the U.S. Department of the Interior, manages over 15 million acres of public lands in California, nearly 15% of the state's total land area. Previously, individual Field Offices would submit applications to receive AmeriCorps NCCC teams to work in the areas of trail building and maintenance, fuels reduction, wildlife protection and restoration, among others. After several meetings with BLM staff at their State office in Sacramento, it was determined that both agencies could be more strategic and intentional about their work together by entering into a partnership. In 2011, AmeriCorps NCCC/Pacific Region signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) with the BLM. The partnership has resulted in:

Improved efficiency and coordination:

- Requests from Field Offices are streamlined through the BLM State Office, who coordinates where the team will be throughout the year.
- NCCC assigns one, specialized team to BLM for the entire year. NCCC coordinates calls with all of the Field Offices who will receive the team , in order to streamline support and manage expectations.
- BLM provides specialized gear and tools, plus technical training (chainsaw certification, CPR training, plus others) to the team.

Clear path to employment:

- In addition to specialized training, members of the team receive Special Hiring Status through the Public Lands Act, which allows a leg up in applying for jobs at the Department of Interior or the Forest Service.
- BLM staff have the opportunity to hire team members with field experience who they've had the opportunity to work with and mentor.

The partnership represents a true "win-win" for each agency. Next year, the program will add more environmental education (i.e. Junior Ranger) to the team's work in order to engage more young people in the great outdoors.

FY16 FNS-CNCS AmeriCorps NCCC Pilot Results

Total Results and Place-Based Only Results

Developing relationships and sponsors for member placement and service assignments takes time. Thus, FY16 activities, while targeting food insecurity, were largely not directed to specific place-based geography. While there were hopes to connect teams to the Promise Zone work in St. Louis, the SC2 groups did not move at a pace that allowed for NCCC teams to serve in this way in FY16. NCCC was introduced at Pine Ridge, and the tribe did choose to use the resource, but member activities were directed toward FEMA-related needs – again, the most appropriate given the time frame.

In total, in FY16 between early-November and mid-July, the Denver NCCC campus deployed 23 teams of 8-12 members to address food insecurity in 16 locations within CNCS' Southwest Region (FNS Mountain Plains and Southwest). Members were preparing and serving meals, tutoring and mentoring youth, leading recreational activities, building, expanding, and maintaining community gardens, and revitalizing community infrastructure. Teams worked with sponsoring agencies for 7-13 weeks, and several project sponsors were awarded multiple teams in the past year to assist with larger projects.

The food insecurity projects fell into four areas:

- Farm to School
- Community Gardens
- Food Banks
- Summer Food Service Program

None of the food insecurity locations are included in Promise Zones, although teams did participate in St. Louis and Pine Ridge on other kinds of activities.

The following are included in StrikeForce areas:

- Denver, CO (City & County of Denver) – F2S
- Mancos, CO (Montezuma County) - F2S
- Lakewood, CO (Jefferson County) – FBank
- West Plains, MO (Howell County) - CGarden
- Ajo, AZ (Pima, County) - CGarden
- Casa Grande, AZ (Pinal County) - CGarden
- Nogales, AZ (Santa Cruz County) - CGarden
- Tucson, AZ (Pima County) - CGarden
- Albuquerque, NM (Bernalillo County) - CGarden

- Taos, NM (Taos County) - CGarden
 - Truth or Consequences, NM (Sierra County) - Summer
- Includes Tribal areas

These areas are not located in StrikeForce counties:

- Edwards, CO (Eagle County) - CGarden
- Topeka, KS – Summer
- Kansas City, MO - CGarden
- City of Little Rock, AR (Pulaski County) – F2S
- Pawhuska, OK (Osage County) - CGarden

Total Results

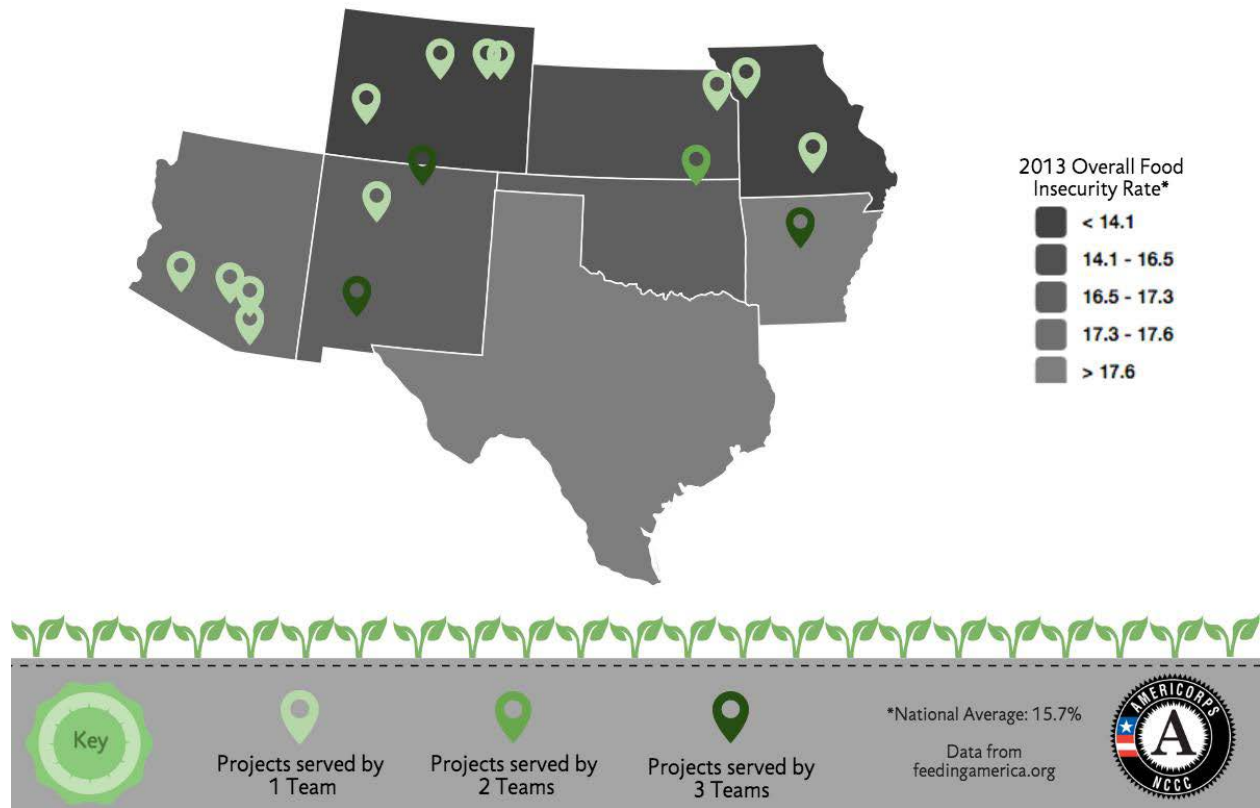

- 324 gardens built, expanded or maintained

Class 22 Food Security Projects

AmeriCorps NCCC – SW Region Class 22

Overview

Since deploying for their first project November 1st, 23 teams of 8-12 members have worked to address food insecurity in the Southwest Region's states through preparing and serving meals, tutoring and mentoring youth, leading recreational activities, building, expanding, and maintaining community gardens, and revitalizing community infrastructure. Teams have worked with sponsoring agency for 7-13 weeks, and several project sponsors have been awarded multiple teams in the past year to assist with larger projects.

Farm to School Projects

Denver Green School

Denver, CO

Denver Green School is an innovation public school, through which it has implemented a farm-to-cafeteria program. The school's focus on project based learning allows teachers and students to engage in relevant, self-directed, teacher-facilitated learning. The team supported the school's effort to increase the capacity of the farm to cafeteria program through gardening, running the farm stand, and supporting student projects that directly relate to the garden. The team distributed 10,000 pounds of food to 200 people, and tended 1 garden.

This will improve the access to healthy, fresh foods, as well as the knowledge needed for how to grow it. Additionally, the expansion will increase the food production by more than 6,000 pounds of food. This will allow the program to expand and grow in the coming years and continue to address pressing community needs. The team harvested 154 pounds of food and tended 96 gardens.

City of Little Rock – Love Your School (3 teams)

Little Rock, AR

The Love Your School (LYS) childhood obesity intervention is built upon a rigorous application of a model of health behavior change advanced by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (the CDC) entitled the Socio-Ecological Model with the expectation that positive health and academic outcomes for obese or overweight low income students will be achieved when all components of the model are implemented. The three teams deployed to Love Your School have supported this holistic approach through teaching nutrition lessons in Elementary schools, maintaining and expanding school gardens, implementing a walking program for students, and assisting with cooking lessons for parents of students. The teams tended 149 gardens and presented nutrition lessons to 7,801 students.

DRAFT FY17 FNCS-CNCS National Service Proposal

FY17 IAA Funding Recommendation

Use the FNCS-CNCS IAA to fund both NCCC and VISTA:

- AmeriCorps NCCC (propose $60-65k):
 - Ten AmeriCorps NCCC teams will focus on food insecurity and support expanded summer programming in targeted geographic locations. These teams would handle three-four project assignments each, for a total of 40, nearly doubling the number of team projects from FY16. The majority of teams will continue to come from the Denver campus, and expansion will occur to at least two more campuses across the country.
 - Specific costs will be determined, but funds will be used for services such as extending terms of service, transporting teams to locations to match summer feeding schedules, enhancing sponsor education, etc.
 - The majority of activities are already funded through CNCS; additional funds would enable more targeted placements and ensure members are available for duration needed – particularly in summer.
- AmeriCorps VISTA (propose $35-40k) – Note: NCCC could absorb full $100k.
 - Option A: Summer Associates (up to 12) will be funded for 8-10 weeks to serve in conjunction with NCCC at two identified sites either concurrently or sequentially; or
 - Option B: A sponsor would be identified with whom two full-time VISTA members would be placed to focus on sponsor capacity development and expansion of food insecurity solutions. At least one of these full-time VISTA members would focus on sovereign food insecurity in Indian Country. (Higher yield but riskier in the short term.)

Draft Objectives (if accepted, more detailed objectives and measures will be developed)

- Expand NCCC team support of summer meals and other food insecurity initiatives.
- Explore/implement NCCC/VISTA co-located activities to leverage assets of both programs in cohesive and coordinated manner. (VISTA role will depend upon funding choice above.)
- Jointly determine geographic targets using multiple sources including:
 - CNCS data re existing AmeriCorps member placements in lowest performing schools and FNS interest areas (AC in 25% of lowest performing schools in the country)
 - Existence of strong existing or potential NCCC and VISTA sponsors
 - Geographic targets that align with other FNS priority activities (ensure staff can support multiple locations).
- Educate and engage FNCS and CNCS staff on joint efforts. FNCS and CNCS points of contact will conduct orientations to new campus and regional office staff, and facilitate implementation plan process.
- FY17 Quarter 2: Detailed implementation plan in place; implementation started; geographic targets determined; regional training complete.
- FY17 Quarter 3: Mid-term results identified; new campuses deploy teams to geographic targets
- FY17 Quarter 4: Evaluate results; develop FY18 plan.

Background

Mountain Plains Region’s FY16 PBI plan included an objective to expand partnerships with CNCS by implementing AmeriCorps NCCC teams in two FNCS regions focused on Food Security Outcomes. The objective also spoke to facilitating a partnership with CNCS that would result in a FY16-17 plan for both interagency and regional joint investments.

The decision to focus on building relationships with AmeriCorps NCCC was based on the following factors:

- Nine state assessment were conducted by CNCS staff indicating food insecurity was a major issue;
- The human capacity NCCC teams could bring to Summer programming could strengthen and/or expand current programming;
- Relationships existed with the Denver campus and staff that enabled a fast partnership start with FNS;
- Initial partnership required intention, but no agency funding.

Knowing the challenges of member access and timely reporting, NCCC seemed an appropriate partner as these elements could be influenced greatly by FNCS.

The AmeriCorps VISTA summer program, because of the nature of the program’s design and legislation, was not as flexible to accomplish the above. While valuable, the addition of NCCC provided additional resources and results that were not possible through VISTA alone.

The following table lists some of the differences between the two programs.

AmeriCorps National Civilian Community Corps (NCCC)	AmeriCorps VISTA
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Members are 18-24 year olds who serve full-time for 10 months. Each 10-month period typically includes three to four rounds of service in communities ranging from 6-13 weeks per round. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Members are 18 or older and serve full-time for 12 months • Summer Associates are a subset program of VISTA; members serve full-time for 8-10 weeks during the summer months
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Members serve in teams of 8-10 members 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Members may be placed individually or in teams
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Service activities are typically hands-on, direct service and working directly with clients. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Service activities are typically capacity-building in nature, not involving direct client contact. • Summer Associate activities are typically more direct service.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A residential program managed directly by CNCS via five campuses: Denver (CO), Sacramento (CA), Baltimore (MD), Vicksburg (MS) and Vinton (IA). 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A non-residential program funded in whole or part by CNCS but managed by local sponsoring organizations.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Approx. 200 members per campus start and end on the same date, but different campuses have different start/end dates. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Members are recruited throughout the year; Summer Associates are typically recruited starting in February of each year.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Activities are directed by NCCC staff in response to sponsor organization requests. NCCC can solicit sponsors for specific activities in targeted geographic areas. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Activities are approved by VISTA staff, and directed by local sponsor organization staff. VISTA can solicit sponsors for specific activities in targeted geographic areas, but are dependent upon a sponsor being willing to run a full-time program for up to three years, and other program requirements.

In total, in FY16 between November 1st and mid-July, the Denver NCCC campus deployed 23 teams of 8-12 members to address food insecurity in 16 locations within CNCS’ Southwest Region (FNS Mountain Plains and Southwest). Members were preparing and serving meals, tutoring and mentoring youth, leading recreational activities, building, expanding, and maintaining community gardens, and revitalizing community infrastructure. Teams worked with sponsoring agencies for 7-13 weeks, and several project sponsors were awarded multiple teams in the past year to assist with larger projects.

The food insecurity projects fell into four areas:

- Farm to School
- Community Gardens
- Food Banks
- Summer Food Service Program

Eleven of the 16 locations (68%) of the food insecurity project locations fell within Strike Force communities, but none took place in Promise Zones. Locations weren't more directed as sponsors had already been identified and projects approved when moving into fall of 2015. Additionally, the focus for FY16 was to begin building the relationships, and this occurred through regional staff training which will result in more directed teams in FY17.

The difference in results between place-based and non-place-based locations is listed below:

Total Results

- 324 gardens built, expanded or maintained
- 16,316 people received food or food education, 11,801 of which were students
- 197,787 pounds of food were harvested and/or distributed
- 28,136 meals were served, of which 25,425 were summer meals

Place-based Only Results

- 120 gardens built, expanded or maintained
- 8,515 people received food or food education, the *majority of which were students
- 189,432 pounds of food were harvested and/or distributed
- 24,736 meals were served, of which 22,125 were summer meals

can get more specific numbers if required*

FY17 Proposal

The FY17 proposal will result in expanded services (nearly double) addressing food insecurity efforts in targeted geographic areas across the country. The majority of the expansion costs for NCCC are already funded through CNCS. The additional funding provided by FNCS will be used to leverage and cover unique situations (e.g., cover full summer program dates, additional member transportation or other costs needed to support service). In short, we will see nearly double the results from FY16, but in a more targeted manner.

The VISTA component for FY17 is reduced to support either a nominal number of associates (projecting $3,500 per member), or two full-time VISTA members. This would require a sponsor willing to take on the members for up to three years. This approach would build capacity for ongoing support, unlike Summer Associates which are very time limited in their scope.

The geographic focus would expand the services to at least one more region, and likely, two (WRO and one other). Interest, capacity and sponsor strength will help to determine which regions are ready and able to partner.

Both CNCS and FNCS staff will receive training on the program and opportunities to partner. This will enable local partnering above and beyond the scope of this expanded pilot.

The same national service points of contact will continue in FY17 – Dana Platin (CNCS) and Kathie Ferguson (FNCS).
